

Facade of Bétonsalon

PRESENTATION OF BETONSALON

Bétonsalon is a multidisciplinary art and research centre. Our ambition is to foster research and intellectual production through a program of exhibitions, projections, conferences and workshops. Bétonsalon is conceived as a space for exchanges between individuals from diverse disciplines: artists, philosophers, playwrights, choreographers, scientists, and more.

Bétonsalon wishes to encourage experimentation and respond to current artistic and cultural concerns. Therefore the activities of Bétonsalon are developing on different schedules: projects elaborated well in advance mingle with spontaneous proposals, resulting from meetings and collaborations.

Bétonsalon is in the 13th district of Paris, in the Masséna area of the ZAC Paris Left Bank, near to the François Mitterrand Library. Bétonsalon extends over 300m² of the 'Flour Exchange,' former flour storage for the historic 'Great Mills of Paris.' Located on the banks of the Seine, the building faces the esplanade of the newly relocated University Paris 7 – Denis Diderot. the Flour Exchange.
